THE EU-TURKEY COOPERATION

Albeit not officially part of the European Union, Turkey is one of the EU'S main partners and both are members of the European Union-Turkey Customs Union. Turkey borders two EU member states, Bulgaria and Greece.

Turkey is negotiating its accession to the European Union (EU) as a member state, following its application to become a full member of the European Economic Community (EEC), the predecessor of the EU, on 14 April 1987.

Turkey signed a Customs Union agreement with the EU in 1995 and was officially recognized as a candidate for full membership on 12 December 1999, at the Helsinki Summit of the European Council. Negotiations for full membership were started on 3 October 2005. In 2022, Turkey is still a candidate to become a member of the EU.

To access the EU, Turkey shall fulfill the Copenhagen criteria-which stipulate that candidate countries have institutions that guarantee democracy, the rule of law, and human rights as well as a well-functioning market economy.

Turkey's youth policies in the EU accession process

Youth and youth policy are important elements of public policies in Turkey. Youth has been addressed in more detail with the establishment of the Ministry of Youth and Sports.

Turkey has the highest proportion of young people compared to the European population as a whole, with almost 50% of the population under the age of 30, of which about half are aged between 14 and 29.

The legal document that sets the framework for youth policy in Turkey is the Youth and Sports Policy Document. It outlines the main areas of Turkey's national youth policy, which are: education and lifelong learning, family, ethics and humanitarian values, employment, entrepreneurship, and vocational training, disadvantaged young people and social inclusion, health and environment, democratic participation and civic consciousness, culture and art, science and technology, young people in the international arena and intercultural dialogue, utilizing free time, informing young people, voluntary work and mobility. The objectives of Turkey's youth policy coincide with the European Union Youth Strategy and the commonly agreed objectives of the European Union.

THE EU-TURKEY COOPERATION FOR SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

- Turkey was one of the first countries to conduct a voluntary national review on the Sustainable Development Goals in 2016. There is active cooperation between the EU and Turkey on climate action due to the climate crises happening in the region. Climate cooperation in achieving the Paris agreement is vital for both sides.
- EU Programme for Employment and Social Innovation (EaSI) has participated in the Agreement signed between the Republic of Turkey and the European Union. EaSI was implemented to promote quality and sustainable employment, guaranteeing adequate and decent social protection, combating social exclusion, and improving working conditions.
- Turkey is among the top beneficiaries of the European Solidarity Corps (ESC) EU Programme, targeting youth. The Government expressed interest in renewing participation in the ESC in the 2021-2027 period. Between 2014 and 2020, under Erasmus+, 2 320 youth mobility and volunteering projects piloted by Turkish organizations were selected for EUR 51.1 million. In 2020, there were 283 youth chosen projects for EUR 9.5 million.

Youth policies for sustainable development in the EU

Youth programmes have been running since 1988. The policy was based on the 2001 White Paper (New Impetus for European Youth). Youth policy aims to create the conditions for learning, opportunities and experiences that provide and enable young people to develop their knowledge, skills and competences. This is to enable them to integrate into society, in particular to play an active role in civil society and the labor market. In January 2020, the Council of Europe's Committee of Ministers adopted the Youth Sector Strategy 2030.

The European Youth Goals are a collection of 11 interlinked goals representing young people's vision for youth policy in the European Union; they were developed during the 6th cycle of the EU Youth Dialogue and included in the EU Youth Strategy 2019–2027.

EUROPEAN SOLIDARITY CORPS

The European Solidarity Corps aims to promote social inclusion, tolerance, human rights, and the value of differences and diversity of all kinds and to provide all young people equal access to opportunities offered under its Actions. The Corps provides accessible and flexible formats of activities, additional financial support as well as a range of support measures (e.g. general and language training, insurance, support before and after solidarity activities, administrative assistance) to encourage the participation of young people with fewer opportunities and better cater for their specific needs. When designing their projects and activities, organizations should have an inclusive approach and make use of the available mechanisms to involve a diverse range of participants. In this field, Turkey made good progress notably in the ERA Priorities related to e-infrastructures, open data, and gender mainstreaming in reSearch. In 2019, Turkey launched a series of measures that led to the establishment of an Action Plan to boost the national reSearch and innovation capacity as well as cooperation with and alignment with the European ReSearch Area. This Action Plan led to a tangible and very positive impact on Turkey's participation in Horizon 2020. Turkey has made steady progress in Horizon 2020 being particularly successful in the European ReSearch Council, in Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions, and in the area of Energy reSearch. Global Europe Human Rights and Democracy 2021 - 2027

The Global Europe Human Rights and Democracy programme for the period 2021-2027, which complements further support at the bilateral and regional level, is the EU's flagship tool for action to advance human rights and democracy, including addressing the impact of global challenges, such as climate change and environmental degradation, digital and new technologies, or the COVID-19 pandemic. The programme can support activities in any country outside the EU and at the global level. It, therefore, complements other EU programmes at local, country, and regional levels.

- Protecting and empowering individuals - €704 million
- Building resilient, inclusive and democratic societies - €463 million
- Promoting a global system for human rights and democracy - €144 million
 - Safeguarding fundamental freedoms - €195 million
 - Delivering by working together - €6.6 million

Protecting and empowering individuals - €704 million

Uphold all human rights, including by working towards the universal abolition of the death penalty, the eradication of torture and cruel and inhumane treatment, the fulfilment of basic needs, decent working conditions, the eradication of child labour, and a safe, clean, healthy and sustainable environment. The programme will promote equality, inclusion and respect for diversity, support human rights defenders and counter shrinking space for civil society, and strengthen the rule of law, ensure a fair and effective administration of justice, and close the accountability gap.

Building resilient, inclusive and democratic societies - €463 million

The program supports functioning pluralist, participatory and representative democracies, and protects the integrity of electoral processes. It will, for instance, engage civil society observers in election observation and support pro-democracy organizations, networks, and alliances.

Promoting a global system for human rights and democracy - €144 million

Enhance strategic partnerships with key actors, such as the Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), the International Criminal Court (ICC), regional human rights systems, national human rights institutions, the private sector, and the Global Campus of Human Rights.

Safeguarding fundamental freedoms, including harnessing the opportunities and addressing the challenges of digital and new technologies - €195 million

Create and maintain an environment conducive to the full exercise of all fundamental freedoms both offline and online. For example, it will help strengthen the capacity of independent, pluralistic and quality media, including investigative journalists, bloggers and fact-checkers, to provide the public with reliable information through responsible and professional reporting. It will support civil society in fostering online media literacy and digital skills and in promoting an open, global, free and secure internet equally accessible to all.

Delivering by working together - €6.6 million

The earmarked funds can support the civil society in engaging with national authorities within the framework of the human rights dialogues that the EU conducts with partner countries, or finance training, studies, or exchanges of best practice. It underpins all of the activities. In the first year of implementation, the EU will focus on promoting a global system for human rights and democracy. For example, in 2022-2024, the EU will support the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights with €16 million, the Global Campus of Human Rights with €10 million, and the International Criminal Court with €3 million. The EU will also support in 2022 the launch of a Team Europe Democracy initiative to reinforce the impact of EU and Member States' global support to democracy. The 2021 action plan complements a number of urgent individual measures under the programme adopted earlier.
